

Excellent.

Fantastic.

Amazing. Available.

Helpful.

These aren't the words students usually use to describe someone who's taught them introductory calculus. But at Brandeis, they do.

Susan Parker is not only a Brandeis faculty member but also an alumna who earned her Ph.D. at the University in 1994. Without the Brandeis Annual Fund, this math professor and the students who love her class—so much so that they made her this year's winner of the Louis Dembitz Brandeis Prize for Excellence in Teaching—might never have come together.

Fellowships and teaching stipends—the kinds of resources the Annual Fund supports—helped Professor Parker fund her Brandeis education. Many of the undergraduates she teaches rely on scholarships as well.

Year after year, the Annual Fund allows Brandeis to attract and retain top students and faculty. It also creates an environment that nurtures their talents, enhancing the campus, academic programs, and much more.

Make important relationships and teaching excellence happen. Give to the Brandeis Annual Fund, this year and every year.

Brandeis Alumni, Parents, and Friends

There's a tax advantage to making your gift to Brandeis before December 31.
